Date Announced For Corps Test In Auditorium

The University of Omaha Student Counseling Service has scheduled tests for students who are interested in the Peace Corps.

The tests will be given in the Conference Center Auditorium at one p.m. on Tuesday, February 18th.

The battery of tests consists of two main parts, one of which is optional to the applicant. The first part, a general aptitude and modern language test, will take about an hour and is required. The second part offers the applicant a choice of two tests, either in Spanish or French. However, this part is not mandatory, and not taking it will not disqualify the person from the Peace Corps.

There are four basic qualifications for those wishing to take the test. The applicant must be a United States citizen at least 18 years old. He or she can be married, but in that case both must apply and there cannot be any dependents under age 18.

It is also necessary to fill out a general information application before taking the test. These forms will be available at the Conference Center prior to administration of the tests.

Peace Corps officials point out that there is no "passing score" on these tests but that volunteers are selected on merit alone. The tests are designed to help the Peace Corps Selection Division to evaluate a candidate's abilities in various fields.

If the tests indicate the necessary qualifications, an invitation to train for a project is issued. However, the candidate is free to accept or decline the invitation and to ask for an invitation for another project at a later date.

It is also pointed out that Peace Corps service does not fulfill military obligations. However, a volunteer may be deferred during the time he or she is in the Corps.

A.A. Building To Get New Wing

Omaha University administrative heads announced this week the letting of bids for the building of a new wing to the Applied Arts Building.

The new addition will be built adjacent to the newly completed south wing. The wing will follow the same design of the present Applied Arts structure.

The new portion will be 60 feet long and 83 feet wide. The 10 thousand square feet contained will house a time and motion study laboratory, electronic computer center, classrooms and four offices.

The bidding on construction began Thursday. University heads estimated that the cost for the building will be in the neighborhood of 175 thousand dollars.

Book store lines backed up this week as an estimated record number of students got set for the spring semester. Although some buyers bucked the crowd only to find the needed text book sold out, the problem of short supply appeared less severe than in past semesters.

Sharpe: Enrollment Figures Top Year Ago

Exact enrollment figures for the 1964 spring semester will not be announced until Saturday, February 8, according to Registrar Virgil Sharpe.

The figures will be published in the February 14 edition of the GATEWAY.

Mr. Sharpe said the figure will be over that of the Spring semester of 1963.

In the Spring semester of 1963 there was a total of 7,232 students enrolled in both day and night classes.

Of that number 3,084 carried 12 or more hours. Four thousand one hundred forty-eight students had a load of under 12 hours.

Possibly the most interesting figure of all is the number of male and female students. Men students numbered 5,104 compared with a distaff enrollment of 2,128.

Women In Broadcasting Is Lecture Series Topic

Jobs and career opportunities for women in Omaha broadcasting will be the topic in a 10 week lecture series at the University of Omaha.

The lectures, presented by the Association of American Women in Radio and TV, will be held in the Marine Room in the Gene Eppley Conference Center. They will be held each Wednesday through April 15, from 4 to 5 p.m.

The lectures are being presented to acquaint junior and senior women in journalism with job opportunities that are available to them. They hope to tell the co-eds where it would be easiest for them to apply for jobs, and what the various jobs include.

The topics discussed will include broadcast procedures, talent and production to advertising agencies' organization and jobs to radio and TV's related fields.

The association has announced that there will possibly be three on location meetings during the series. They will be at Allen & Reynolds, WOW, the University of San Francisco and the Civil Defense Col-

Kaeser To Head
Bootstrap Office

A 28-year veteran Lieutenant Colonel of the United States Army has joined the faculty of the University of Omaha.

He is William G. Kaeser, formerly of Fort Bragg, N. C.

Kaeser will take over the duties of Roy W. Nolte in May as director of the on-campus military program.

Nolte, who has been at OU since 1952, retired in 1962 but has been working at the university on a part-time basis. During that time he has seen the Bootstrapper program grow from five men in 1952 to over one thousand in 1964. Some four thousand men have received degrees under the program.

He was, along with Dean Donald Pflasterer, the first academic sponsor of the Society of the Pen and Sword.

Kaeser, a graduate of Kansas State University has also attended the Air Command and Staff College at Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala., the University of San Francisco and the Civil Defense Col-

Heritage Series Gives Shakespeare Star Role

This year marks the 400th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare.

To commemorate this event, the University of Omaha's annual "Our American Heritage" series will be centered around a Shakespearean theme.

The three-part series will include the University Players in Shakespeare's well-known comedy "As You Like It." Featured speakers will be Sir Tyrone Guthrie and Professor A. L. Rowse.

Tryouts for "As You Like It", under the direction of Dr. Edwin L. Clark, Director of the University Players have played this week. The two-part comedy will be presented Mar. 5, 6 and 7 in the University Auditorium. This marks the first time the University Players have played a part in the Heritage series.

"The staging will be unique at OU," said Dr. Clark. "We are going to convert the auditorium stage into Elizabethan style—the type used when the play was presented at the Globe Theater in Chicago for the Century of Progress."

British-born Sir Tyrone, regarded in the theater world as the most outstanding producer in the world today, will lecture on "Shakespeare and the Theatre" Mar. 9 at 8:30 p.m. in the University Auditorium.

Hardly a major theater is unknown to the renowned director. He is a director of the Old Vic Theatre in London and has been its governor since 1956. He also was the original director of the Stratford Ontario Shakespeare Festival.

In recognition of his brilliant contribution to the theater, Sir Tyrone was knighted in 1961. The Sir Tyrone Guthrie theater in Minneapolis was named in his honor.

The final segment of the series will feature Rowse Mar. 18 at 8:30 p.m. in the University Auditorium. His topic will be "The Problem of Shakespeare's Sonnets Solved".

Rowse is the Visiting Distinguished Professor at OU this year. He is a noted historian, writer and Shakespearean authority and his new biography of Shakespeare was the Book of the Month selection for January.

"We feel fortunate that we have retained these outstanding men," said Dean William Utley, dean of Adult Education.

"The American Heritage program always selects the outstanding event of the year and does a series of programs around that event. Since our roots go back into England, it seemed appropriate to incorporate the Shakespearean theme into the series."

Curtain time for "As You Like It" will be 8:30 p.m. Admission will be $1.50. Students will be admitted free with an activity card. Admission for the lectures will be free.

OU Campus Thought Best Site For ETV

The Metropolitan Omaha Educational Television Committee at its last meeting, indicated the best sight for the ETV Channel 16 transmitting facilities would be on the Omaha University Campus.

Two other possible sites being discussed were the Masonic Manor, and the Saunders School area.

The project, which the Committee hopes will be completed in the Fall of 1965, will bring many job opportunities to the area near the location.

The programming will be educational in nature, both elementary and secondary. Math, English and Nursing are some of the subjects which will be offered. The station, limited at first, will cover an area about twenty miles in radius. It will offer classes both day and night in credited and non-credited courses.

The State Commission has appropriated funds for the transmitting facilities pending an appropriation from the federal Health, Education and Welfare Commission.

Mr. Paul Borge, Radio and Television instructor, said the ETV facilities will bring uniform education to many people, particularly in specialized areas of study.

The GATEWAY is published weekly by students of the Omaha University Department of Journalism. Editorial comment and signed letters to the editor are not necessarily representative opinions of the faculty, administration or student body.

Dr. Most Named Head Of Foreign Languages

Dr. Woodrow L. Most, recently appointed by the Omaha Board of Regents as new head of the Foreign Language department, will assume the position beginning next fall.

The new department head comes to OU from Greencastle, Indiana where he has been Professor of Romance Languages at DePauw University since 1946. From 1942 to 1946 he was head of the Language Department at Kemper Military School, Bonnville, Missouri.

Dr. Most received his bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan in 1939. The following year he earned his Master's degree from the same school. In 1953 he had his Ph.D. degree from Laval University, Quebec.

Dr. Most and family will come to Omaha next summer in time to get settled sometime before the fall school-term begins.

Dr. C. S. Espinosa, of the Foreign Language Department, will retire from the faculty in August. He has been teaching at OU since 1931.

The Regents also approved three other faculty appointments which will be effective by September 1.

Dr. Robert C. O'Reilly was named Associate Professor of education. Since 1962 he has been Director of the Evening Division at Morningside College, Sioux City, Iowa.

Dr. O'Reilly earned his bachelors of science degree from Kansas State College, Manhattan, in 1951; his master of arts degree from the University of Wyoming in 1959; and his Ed.D. degree in 1962 from the University of Kansas.

Edward J. Sadler was named instructor of education. He received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from OU. From 1961 to 1963 he taught in the Council Bluffs Public School system. He taught at Westside high school from 1963-1964.

Miss Helen Howell, a teacher in the Omaha Public Schools, was appointed instructor of education. Both her bachelor's and master's degree's were earned at OU.

Book by Murvar To Be Completed In Near Future

An Omaha University sociology professor, Dr. Vatro Murvar will soon have a new book on the market.

The book, dealing with political sociology, is two thirds finished, said Dr. Murvar. It will take approximately one year to finish it.

The theme of the book deals with a comparison of Russian and American institutions. The culture, environment, and political structure of Russia and questions on Russian behavior are discussed.

Dr. Murvar formulated the idea for his book several years ago. Work on it has taken place during past summers at the Hoover Institution for Peace and at Wisconsin University.

The book will be used by students and is written on the format of a text book. However, it is more for outside reading than for use in the classroom.

A prominent man, interested in the same field of Sociology has consented to read the rough draft, comment on it, and perhaps write an introduction to the book.

Memorial Plaque Presented By Alumni

A bronze plaque was presented to Lt. Col. Emilio P. Ratti this week in memory of the late Jerry Larson.

Graduated from Omaha University in June, 1958, Larson died in an Air Force training mission accident over Lake Ontario May 20, 1963. His plane went down during a storm and his body was never recovered. He was president of Theta Chi fraternity during his senior year.

Sam Marasco, chairman of the memorial committee, presented the plaque to Cadet Col. Robert E. Burge, who in turn gave the plaque to Dr. Milo Bail. Dr. Bail then presented the plaque to Lt. Col. Ratti.

Auditions Are Set For KWOU Radio

The University of Omaha campus radio station, KWOU, will be holding auditions for second semester announcers and disc jockeys on Monday at 2:30 p.m.

The auditions will be held in the radio-TV department studios located in the basement of the Applied Arts building in room G-1.

There are no qualifications for applying and students in all majors are invited. Those selected will run record shows on the station between 11:30 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Alum Loans Available

The Omaha University Alumni Association has announced that emergency loans will again be available to students beginning Monday.

Students may obtain loans by applying at the Alumni office on the second floor of the Student Center. The only requirement is that the student's ID be shown, and the money be paid back within thirty days.

Engineers Society To Plan Field Trips

The Society of American Military Engineers will meet Wednesday in Student Center Room 302 at 4 p.m.

A movie will be shown and future field trips will be planned. All new and second semester freshmen engineering or AFROTC students are invited.

Gordon Gould

Patti Matson

Many AFROTC Cadets will be seen in a slightly different uniform from now on. New is the blue and yellow cord worn on the left shoulder by about 30 of the cadets.

The shoulder cord, shown by Gordon Gould with help from Patti Matson, will be worn by Arnold Air Society members at all times from now on. Although the regulation which depicts this uniform has always been in effect, it was never enforced. In the past, Society members had to purchase the shoulder cord at their own expense, but now the AFROTC detachment on campus has funds appropriated for this purpose.

The Enforcement of the regulation has come about recently because of a directive from Brig. Gen. William C. Lindley, Commandant, AFROTC at Air University Headquarters, Maxwell AFB, Montgomery, Alabama.

Trickett to Lead European Tour

The second annual study tour in Europe will again give students a chance to visit European countries as well as earn six hours of credit on "Political and Social History of Contemporary Europe".

The 38-day tour, under the direction of Dr. A. Stanley Trickett, head of the History Department, will leave Omaha June 7th for Lisbon, Portugal and will return to Omaha July 14th. Countries included in the tour are Portugal, Spain, France, Italy, Austria, Germany, Luxembourg, Belgium and England.

The course may be taken for either graduate or undergraduate credit at a cost of approximately $1,650.00. This includes land arrangements, transportation, hotels, meals, sightseeing and tips. The only items not included in this price are such expenses as passports, visas, airport taxes and expenses of a strictly personal nature.

Membership on the tour may be reserved by a $50.00 deposit.

Students wishing further information should contact the College of Adult Education for a complete description of credits, course content, reading lists and itinerary.

Last year 17 students participated in the program. However, Dr. Trickett feels there is a great deal more interest this year.

THE INNER MAN

College is fun and frolic and fulfillment—except for one melancholy omission: we don't get to enjoy Mom's home cooking. (In my own undergraduate days, curiously enough, I did not undergo this deprivation; my mother, a noted cross-country runner, was never home long enough to cook a meal until her legs gave out last Arbor Day.)

But most of us arrive at college with fond gastric memories of Mom's nourishing delicacies, and we are inclined now and then to heave great racking sighs as we contemplate the steam tables in the campus cafeteria. Take, for an extreme example, the case of Finster Sigafos.

Finster, a freshman at one of our great Eastern universities (Oregon State) came to college accustomed to home cooking of a kind and quantity enjoyed by very few. Until entering college, Finster had lived all his life in Europe, where his father was an eminent fugitive from justice. Finster's mother, a natural born cook, was mistress of the haute cuisine of a dozen countries, and Finster grew up living and eating in the Continental manner.

He arose each morning at ten and breakfasted lightly on figs, hot chocolate, and brioche. (It is interesting to note, incidentally, that brioche was named after its inventor, perhaps the greatest of all French bakers, Jean-Claude Brioche (1634-1921). M. Brioche, as we all know, also invented croissants, French toast, and—in a curious departure—the electric razor. Other immortal names in the history of breadstuffs are the German, Otto Pumpernickel (1509-1848) who invented pumpernickel and thus became known to posterity as The Iron Chancellor; the two Americans, William Cullen Raisin (1066-1812) and Walter Rye (1931-1932) who collaborated on the invention of raisin rye; and, of course, Hans Christian Andersen (1805-1875) who invented Danish pastry).

But I digress. Finster, I say, breakfasted lightly at ten a.m. At eleven a.m. his Mom brought him his elevenses. At twelve she brought him his twelveses. At 1:30 she served his lunch: first a clear broth; then a fish course (porgy and bass); then an omelette; then the main course—either a saddle of lamb, an eye of sirloin, or a glass of chicken fat; then a salad of escarole; and finally a lemon soufflé.

At three p.m. Mom served Finster low tea, at five p.m. high tea, and at ten p.m. dinner—first a bowl of petite marmite (she trapped the marmite herself); then a fish course (wounded trout); then an omelette of turtle eggs; then the main course—either duck with orange or a basin of farina; then a salad of unborn chicory; and finally a caramel mousse.

And then Finster went off to college, which reminds me of Marlboro Cigarettes. (Actually it doesn't remind me of Marlboro Cigarettes at all, but the makers of Marlboro pay me to write this column and they are inclined to get surly if I fail to mention their product. Mind you, I don't object to mentioning their product—no sir, not one bit. Marlboro's flavor is flavorful, the filter filters, the soft pack is soft, the Flip-Top box flips, and the tattoo is optional. Marlboros are available wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states of the Union. Next time you're in the U.S.A., try a pack.)

But I digress. We were speaking of Finster Sigafos who went from Continental dining to dormitory feeding. So whenever you feel sorry for yourself, think of Finster, for it always lifts the heart to know somebody is worse off than you are.

© 1964 Max Shulman

We, the makers of Marlboro, can't say whether European food beats ours, but this we believe: America's cigarettes lead the whole world. And this we further believe: among America's cigarettes, Marlboros are the finest.

A total of 25 teams have begun competition in the Intramural Basketball tournament. The championship game will be held February 27 at 6:00 as a preliminary to an OU varsity match.

In tournament action last Tuesday the GATEWAY, composed entirely of journalism majors, romped to a 35-24 win over League No. 3 champion Eagles. The Scribes, led by Mike Moran's 16 points, will take on upset minded Darts next Tuesday.

Other results:

Cagers 36 ······ Warriors 30

Royals 59 ······ Rinky Dinks 23

Bowling

A men's singles bowling tournament will start Wednesday, February 12. Six lanes of scratch bowling will cost $2.00. All parties interested are to inquire at the information desk in the Student Center.

Depth In Run Events Boost Indoor Track

1964's version of indoor track is underway after last night's initial meet in the fieldhouse. Doane and Hastings are the first of four triangulars scheduled at OU this year.

Coach Lloyd Cardwell's contingent, looking strong in the running events may have trouble gaining points in the field.

The Rocket

As proven standout on the squad, Rocket Roger Sayers is of course the big name on the roster. Sayers, running for the 60, 440 and newly introduced 300, already holds all of the sprint records for the fieldhouse. Tabbed as possible Olympic material he has competed in many of the major relays in the United States as well as representing the U. S. in a meet against the Russians in 1962.

Sophomore Terry Williams, generally running fractions of seconds behind the Rocket last year is expected to be on the heels of Roger or right next to him.

Added Experience

In the middle distance, Cardwell is looking towards Loren Drum, Herb Rhodes and Ray Hultman to add the needed depth. Those men each have two years experience.

Drum, along with Pat Giddings and Ken Gould should provide the push in the long distance that has been absent from OU track for much too long.

The three weight men, Jim Jones, Jack Krouth and Warren Lenz are all scheduled in the shot.

'Bandits' Record Win No. 11 With Ft. Hays Conquest

Borsheim's "Bandits" upped their record to 11-7—tops in the last 10 years—with two home conquests this past week.

Despite the loss of two starters and a top reserve to the scholastic chopping block, the Indians whipped Rockhurst 79-73 on January 30, and Fort Hays State 86-71 on February 4.

OU gained revenge against the Kansas City club for a December defeat at Rockhurst, 95-80. Sam Singleton, 6-5 Frosh from the East with a 17 point norm, made the difference putting 29 while the Indians added another home scalp. He was helped by New Jersey guard Charlie Myers' 23 and Larry Villnow with 13 markers and 9 rebounds.

Villnow, 6-7 junior replacement for Mike Demkowski who had trouble with grades, really broke loose as the insurgents throttled Fort Hays State to cement their hold on second place in the Central Intercollegiate Conference.

Villnow, 6-7 junior replacement for Mike Demkowski who had trouble with grades, really broke loose as the insurgents throttled Fort Hays State to cement their hold on second place in the Central Intercollegiate Conference.

The Benson grad took over for the top rebounder on the squad and collected 22 points and 24 caroms off the boards enroute to his best all-round performance in three years.

Fine Floor Game

Gridiron quarterback, 5-9 Marlin Briscoe, took up some of the slack left when guard Jim Myers, Charlie's brother and sub Ulysses Cribbs also ran into difficulties with the books.

Briscoe, a freshman from South, turned in two fine floor games and added 14 points.

Fort Hays' big man who led the Tigers to their 85-82 conquest of the tribe at Hays, Kansas, last month, Sam McDowell, found the going rough in the first half as OU mounted a 50-25 half-time advantage. McDowell was held to 9 points but finished with 25 for the night. In the first encounter he hit for 41 and was the biggest nemesis.

8-0 At Home

The victory over the Tigers was the second of the year and gave OU a 4-2 CIC mark. The Bandits who were the pre-season choice for the cellar moved a little closer to stealing the title and will face the Hornets of Emporia in the showdown in OU's fieldhouse, Feb. 27.

Despite sagging turnouts at home, the cagers boast an 8-0 record. If they can tack down the last two games, this will be the first sweep on the home schedule since the Great Depression.

St. Benedict's main scoring threats are guards Joe Gillespie and Pat Bello. Gillespie, the teams leading scorer and captain of the Ravens, is 6-3 and doubles as a forward.
